DETAILED ACTION

Prosecution History Summary

- Claims 8-12, 18, 27, 34 and 59 are amended per the response filed on 5/17/2007.
- Claims 1-20, 26-31, 34-53 and 5978 are pending.

Response to Amendment

The rejection of claims 34-35, 37-52, 59-60 and 62-77 under 35 U.S.C. 101 is vacated in view of the amendment submitted on 5/17/2007.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 41-52 and 66-77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Referring to claims 41-52 and 66-77. Claims 41-52 and 66-77 do not provide a practical application that produces a useful result. For an invention to be “useful” it must satisfy the utility requirement of section 101. The USPTO's official interpretation of the utility requirement provides that the utility of an invention has to be (i) specific, (ii) substantial and (iii) credible. MPEP § 2107.

The claims merely set forth the facilitation of an exchange, but do not positively recite the exchange. The body of the claim set is absent of any active exchange step and therefore does not move to manifest a useful result. Utility is not realized until the method automatically notifies the buyer when the reserve price has been published as taught in claim 78.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-20, 26-31, 34-53 and 59-78 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Auction Arms (Hereinafter “Arms”).

Referring to claim 1. Arms discloses a network-based commerce system including:

- A processor coupled to a memory through a bus (Arms: page 1, “Or you can access the most powerful online market of gun bidders on the planet by listing your product for sale!”); and

The Examiner notes, the auction price-setting process executed from the memory by the processor to cause the processor to automatically publish at least one of a proxy bid information and a reserve price is dependent on the phrase “if a high proxy bid is less than the reserve price...” This phrase is a conditional limitation. The noted “if” step is not necessarily performed. Accordingly, once the positively recited steps are satisfied, the method as a whole is satisfied -- regardless of whether or not other steps are conditionally invocable under certain other hypothetical scenarios.

Referring to claims 2-7. These limitations are dependent upon a conditional limitation and are given little patentable weight, since once the positively recited steps are satisfied, the method as a whole is satisfied -- regardless of whether or not other steps are conditionally invocable under certain other hypothetical scenarios.

Referring to claim 8. Arms discloses a network-based commerce system for facilitating a network-based auction price-setting process, the network-based commerce system including:

- A processor coupled to a memory through a bus (Arms: page 1, "Or you can access the most powerful online market of gun bidders on the planet by listing your product for sale!"); and

The Examiner notes, the auction price-setting process executed from the memory by the processor to cause the processor to automatically publish at least one of a proxy bid information and a reserve price is dependent on the phrase "if a high proxy bid is less than the reserve price..." This phrase is a conditional limitation. The noted "if" step is not necessarily performed. Accordingly, once the positively recited steps are satisfied, the method as a whole is satisfied -- regardless of whether or not other steps are conditionally invocable under certain other hypothetical scenarios.

Referring to claim 9. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the at least one of the proxy bid information and the reserve price information are automatically exchanged upon conclusion of the auction price-setting process (Arms: page 9, "If I didn't receive an email, can I contact the seller?").

Referring to claim 10. This limitation is dependent upon a conditional limitation and is given little patentable weight, since once the positively recited steps are satisfied, the method as a whole is satisfied -- regardless of whether or not other steps are conditionally invocable under certain other hypothetical scenarios.

Referring to claim 11. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the auction price-setting process further causes the processor to automatically invite at least one of the seller and the buyer to exchange the at least one of the proxy bid and the reserve price information (Arms: page 9, "If I didn't receive an email, can I contact the seller?").

Referring to claim 12. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein at least one of the buyer and the seller is automatically invited to exchange the at least one of the proxy bid and the reserve price information when a proxy bid associated with the seller and the reserve price are within a predetermined proximity of each other (Arms: page 9, "If I didn't receive an email, can I contact the seller?").

Referring to claim 13. Arms disclose a method according to claim 12 as indicated supra. Arms does not expressly disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the predetermined proximity is within twenty percent of each other. However, the wherein clause merely states the result of claim 13 and adds nothing to the patentability or substance of the claim. See Texas Instruments Inc. v. International Trade Commission, 26 USPQ2d 1010 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Furthermore, the applicant has not persuasively demonstrated the step of having a proximity within twenty percent, versus that shown in the prior art.

Referring to claim 14. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the exchange of information is a secured exchange of information (Arms: page 6, "FFL").

Referring to claim 15. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the invitation is indicated in the listing (Arms: page 16).

Referring to claim 16. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the invitation is indicated in the listing before the auction price-setting process (Arms: page 16).

Referring to claim 17. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the invitation is indicated in the listing after the auction price-setting process (Arms: page 9, "If I didn't receive an email, can I contact the seller?").

Referring to claim 18. These limitations are dependent upon a conditional limitation and are given little patentable weight, since once the positively recited steps are satisfied, the method as a whole is satisfied -- regardless of whether or not other steps are conditionally invocable under certain other hypothetical scenarios.

Referring to claim 19. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the auction price-setting process further causes the processor to facilitate a request for an adjustment of a fixed price offer associated with a listing for an item utilizing the auction price-setting process, the request to be sent to a seller of the listing (Arms: page 7, "Reserve Style Auction").

Referring to claim 20. Arms disclose a network-based commerce system wherein the auction price-setting process further causes the processor to notify automatically the buyer when the reserve price has been published (Arms: page 8, "You will be notified at any time that you've been outbid, or any time a proxy bid has been placed for you.").

Referring to claims 26-31. Claims 26-31 contains limitation similar to claims 1-20 as indicated supra. Claims 26-31 are rejected under the same rationale as set forth above in claims 1-20.

Referring to claims 34-53. Claims 34-53 contains limitation similar to claims 1-20 as indicated supra. Claims 34-53 are rejected under the same rationale as set forth above in claims 1-20.

Referring to claims 59-78. Claims 59-78 contains limitation similar to claims 1-20 as indicated supra. Claims 58-78 are rejected under the same rationale as set forth above in claims 1-20.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/17/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant argues that Arms does anticipate the publishing step as set forth in the independent claims.

The Examiner notes, the publishing step of claim 1 is dependent upon a conditional limitation ("if a high proxy bid is less than the reserve price..."). Accordingly, once the positively recited steps are satisfied, the method as a whole is satisfied -- regardless of whether or not other steps are conditionally invocable under certain other hypothetical scenarios.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
